Use case diagram - Steps	Test data + comment
Check that Unregistered users can view products	It is allowed to open any category and view products
Check that the Unregistered user can add products to the Cart	Products are added to the cart, phone model - Xiaomi 13T 8/256 Alpine Black
Check that Unregistered users can add products to Favorites	The product is not added to Favorites
Check whether the Unregistered user can place an order	You need to register
Check whether a non-registered user can write a review	You need to register
Check whether the Registered User will receive notifications about discounts	You receive an e-mail and a notification on the website in the form of an advertisement
Check whether the Registered User will see in the product description whether it is available	In the description, it says whether the product is available/out of stock
Check whether the Unregistered user will see in the product description whether it is available	An unregistered user can also see in the description whether the product is available/out of stock In stock
Check what the registered user will receive when making a Purchase confirmation of payment from the site (order confirmation)	A message arrives on the website and in personal messages on the phone, email
Check that the registered user will receive a message or call about sending an order (purchase)	A message arrives on the phone, email, or calls